Pandemics: What's next all around?

18.00-19.30am GMT+2, May 1st, 2020, Webinar (by Microsoft TEAMS Click Here)

POC: Agostino Bruzzone, Simulation Team President & STRATEGOS Council Chair
Webinar will be in English and running on MS TEAMS

This Webinar addresses the overview of next steps on going around the world to be able to operate while covid-19 is still present and active. The discussion aims to identify the most critical issues

All around the world, with some time shift, the Countries are experiencing discussion about Rebooting the Economy, Restart Industries and Release People. Even if there are pretty critical experience about the risks related to New Infection Waves. In addition, several of the hot countermeasures resulted in several country quite ineffective due to the limited knowledge on the virus

This Webinar would like to identify what is emerging as New Knowledge around the Globe and what initiatives are on going to prepare each Country to Restart. It is important to compare the different researches, experiments and tests activated to identify Critical Aspects & develop New Capabilities.

It is evident that all actions devoted to better understand the characteristics of the virus and its dynamics as well as to measure the real effectiveness of Mitigation Actions result fundamental. At this point Science and Technology should operate both to know more about covid-19 as well as to define new Policies, Procedures, Technological Solutions able to reduce risks and being sustainable in terms of costs, safety, usability, availability, deployability, etc. Strategic Engineering is able to use the Lessons Learned around the Globe to support development of a New Capability and to enhance dynamically the Resilience to be able to reduce future risks related to virus potential mutations as well as to Reactions of the Population, the Markets and the Nations. It will crucial to support Companies, Industries, Institutions, Authorities and People to be ready for the incoming Scenario... in time.

This Webinar is part of a Pandemic Events organized by STRATEGOS in Genoa University
